DESCRIPTION

As part of an ongoing 'Room making exercise' I have listed another one of my larger engines. This one has been with us a long time and runs nicely on air and steam. We have always referred to it as 'The Roberts engine' because of the E&H ROBERTS, DEANSHANGER, cast into the pulley/flywheel. I can't honestly say that it was made by this famous Stoney Stratford Iron Founders but this particular engine is pictured on the E&H Roberts website. I have no doubt that it is a small, full size, workshop engine as it obviously used to drive something from the substantial pulley, fitted next to the Flywheel. Mounted on a beautiful wooden base, fitted with draincocks and various lubricators with hardwood cylinder lagging. A feedwater pump appears to be an original feature as the eccentric rods and straps are the same. A balanced crank makes smooth running. With an understanding wife it would make a nice feature in your lounge but a bit heavy to go on top of the TV ! It is just manageable on your own but better with two. The Stuart Turner S50 is to give an idea of the size but IS NOT INCLUDED IN THIS SALE. Any questions please ask. Sorry but UK ONLY and COLLECTION ONLY from Leicestershire by the buyer would fit in most car boots. Approx dimensions. Length 29" Crank width 16" Flywheel 11" 2" bore 4" stroke.
